SUMMARY

More of the world is building what's next.

Endeavor Catalyst has closed its fifth fund at $320 million, bringing total assets under management to more than $850 million and deepening a thesis it has held since 2012: the future should not be built by only a few people in a few places.

Fund V backs Endeavor Entrepreneurs building category-defining companies outside Silicon Valley and China, in markets where ambition is abundant but access to capital is still uneven. Endeavor Catalyst's portfolio now spans 44 markets and includes companies such as Altruist, Bending Spoons, ElevenLabs, Rappi, Peak Games and InstaDeep.

The fund is already at work, with investments in companies including Replit, Moove, Preply and Cashea. Its LP base also reflects Endeavor's Multiplier Effect in action: founders who once grew through the network are now reinvesting their capital, experience and trust into the next generation.

The fund is also a bet on a bigger innovation map, and on a more expansive answer to one of this era's defining questions:
Who gets to build what's next?

30% OF FUND V'S INVESTORS ARE ENDEAVOR ENTREPRENEURS

The fund's LP base reflects the same community-driven-model: founders backing founders.

32 INVESTMENTS ALREADY CLOSED FROM FUND V

Replit, Moove, Preply, Cashea, Respond.io, HappyRobot, Flash and Lunar Outpost are some of the companies we have invested in.

A SELF-SUSTAINING MODEL

Catalyst ties Endeavor's future to the success of the founders it backs. Five funds in, more Endeavor Entrepreneurs are the ones funding the next generation.

FUND V PLACES ENDEAVOR CATALYST AMONG VENTURE'S RAREST FIRMS

Only about 20% of venture firms reach Fund IV, and just 1.7% become enduring franchises. A fifth fund is rarer still.
